Use the following prompt to spark your imagination and storytelling skills:

Write a letter to your future self. What advice would you give?

| what davice would you give? |
|-----------------------------|
|                             |
|                             |
|                             |
|                             |
|                             |
|                             |
|                             |
|                             |
|                             |
|                             |
|                             |
|                             |
|                             |

Use the following prompt to spark your imagination and storytelling skills:

You discover a hidden door in your school. What's on the other side?

| What's on the other side? |
|---------------------------|
|                           |
|                           |
|                           |
|                           |
|                           |
|                           |
|                           |
|                           |
|                           |
|                           |
|                           |
|                           |
|                           |

Use the following prompt to spark your imagination and storytelling skills:

Write about a day where everything you draw comes to life.

| draw comes to life. |
|---------------------|
|                     |
|                     |
|                     |
|                     |
|                     |
|                     |
|                     |
|                     |
|                     |
|                     |
|                     |
|                     |
|                     |

Use the following prompt to spark your imagination and storytelling skills:

Write a story about a magical animal that becomes your best friend.

|   | becomes your best mend. |
|---|-------------------------|
|   |                         |
|   |                         |
|   |                         |
|   |                         |
|   |                         |
|   |                         |
| • |                         |
| • |                         |
| • |                         |
|   |                         |
| • |                         |
| • |                         |
|   |                         |

Use the following prompt to spark your imagination and storytelling skills:

Imagine your perfect day. What would you do?

|   | what would you do: |
|---|--------------------|
| • |                    |
| • |                    |
| • |                    |
|   |                    |
|   |                    |
|   |                    |
|   |                    |
|   |                    |
|   |                    |
|   |                    |
|   |                    |
|   |                    |
|   |                    |

Use the following prompt to spark your imagination and storytelling skills:

Your pet suddenly starts talking. What's the first thing they say?

|   | Windt's the mist timing they sag. |
|---|-----------------------------------|
|   |                                   |
| • |                                   |
|   |                                   |
|   |                                   |
|   |                                   |
|   |                                   |
|   |                                   |
| - |                                   |
| - |                                   |
| • |                                   |
| • |                                   |
| • |                                   |
| • |                                   |

Use the following prompt to spark your imagination and storytelling skills:

You wake up one day with the ability to fly. Where do you go first?

| Where do you go first? |  |
|------------------------|--|
|                        |  |
|                        |  |
|                        |  |
|                        |  |
|                        |  |
|                        |  |
|                        |  |
|                        |  |
|                        |  |
|                        |  |
|                        |  |
|                        |  |
|                        |  |

Use the following prompt to spark your imagination and storytelling skills:

You wake up one day, and all the adults are gone. What happens next?

Use the following prompt to spark your imagination and storytelling skills:

A mysterious map falls out of a library book. Where does it lead?

Use the following prompt to spark your imagination and storytelling skills:

If you could invent one thing to make the world a better place, what would it be?

|   | world a better place, what would it be? |   |
|---|---|---|
|   |   |   |
|   |   |   |
|   |   |   |
| • |   |   |
| • |   |   |
| • |   |   |
| • |   |   |
| • |   | _ |
| • |   |   |
| • |   |   |
| • |   |   |
| • |   |   |
| • |   | _ |

Use the following prompt to spark your imagination and storytelling skills:

| One morning, everyone in town wakes up and something important is missing. What is it? |
|--|
|  |
|  |
|  |
|  |
|  |
|  |
|  |
|  |
|  |
|  |
|  |
|  |

Use the following prompt to spark your imagination and storytelling skills:

You hear strange noises coming from your attic. What do you find?

|   | attic. What do you find? |
|---|--------------------------|
|   |                          |
|   |                          |
|   |                          |
|   |                          |
|   |                          |
|   |                          |
| • |                          |
| • |                          |
| • |                          |
|   |                          |
| • |                          |
| • |                          |
|   |                          |

Use the following prompt to spark your imagination and storytelling skills:

You find an old diary with a final entry that says, "Beware of the clock."

|  | says, | Beware of the clock. |  |
|--|-------|----------------------|--|
|  |       |                      |  |
|  |       |                      |  |
|  |       |                      |  |
|  |       |                      |  |
|  |       |                      |  |
|  |       |                      |  |
|  |       |                      |  |
|  |       |                      |  |
|  |       |                      |  |
|  |       |                      |  |
|  |       |                      |  |
|  |       |                      |  |
|  |       |                      |  |

Use the following prompt to spark your imagination and storytelling skills:

While exploring the beach, you uncover a buried chest. What's inside?

|   | buried chest. What's inside? |
|---|------------------------------|
|   |                              |
|   |                              |
|   |                              |
|   |                              |
|   |                              |
|   |                              |
|   |                              |
|   |                              |
|   |                              |
|   |                              |
|   |                              |
|   |                              |
| _ |                              |

Use the following prompt to spark your imagination and storytelling skills:

You invent a robot that can do anything.
What does it do, and what goes wrong?

Use the following prompt to spark your imagination and storytelling skills:

Write about a day in the life of a kid living on planet Mars.

| on planet Mars. |   |
|-----------------|---|
|                 |   |
|                 |   |
|                 |   |
|                 |   |
|                 |   |
|                 |   |
|                 |   |
|                 |   |
|                 |   |
|                 |   |
|                 |   |
|                 |   |
|                 | _ |

Use the following prompt to spark your imagination and storytelling skills:

Time travel is now possible.
Where and when do you go, and why?

|   | where and when do you go, and why: |
|---|------------------------------------|
|   |                                    |
|   |                                    |
| _ |                                    |
|   |                                    |
|   |                                    |
|   |                                    |
|   |                                    |
| _ |                                    |
| _ |                                    |
|   |                                    |
| _ |                                    |
| _ |                                    |
|   |                                    |

Use the following prompt to spark your imagination and storytelling skills:

Earth receives its first message from an alien planet. What does it say?

|   | alleri plariet. Wriat aces it sag. |
|---|------------------------------------|
| - |                                    |
|   |                                    |
|   |                                    |
|   |                                    |
|   |                                    |
|   |                                    |
|   |                                    |
|   |                                    |
|   |                                    |
|   |                                    |
|   |                                    |
|   |                                    |
|   |                                    |

Use the following prompt to spark your imagination and storytelling skills:

You discover a hidden door in your school. What's on the other side?

| What's on the other side? |
|---------------------------|
|                           |
|                           |
|                           |
|                           |
|                           |
|                           |
|                           |
|                           |
|                           |
|                           |
|                           |
|                           |
|                           |

WENTING CONT

| WHIIING CONI. |
|---------------|
|               |
|               |
|               |
|               |
|               |
|               |
|               |
|               |
|               |
|               |
| Illustration  |
|               |
|               |
|               |
|               |

Use the following prompt to spark your imagination and storytelling skills:

Write a letter to your future self. What advice would you give?

| What advice would you give? |
|-----------------------------|
|                             |
|                             |
|                             |
|                             |
|                             |
|                             |
|                             |
|                             |
|                             |
|                             |
|                             |
|                             |
|                             |

Use the following prompt to spark your imagination and storytelling skills:

You discover a hidden door in your school.

| What's on the other side? |  |
|---------------------------|--|
|                           |  |
|                           |  |
|                           |  |
|                           |  |
|                           |  |
|                           |  |
|                           |  |
|                           |  |
|                           |  |
|                           |  |
|                           |  |
|                           |  |
|                           |  |

Use the following prompt to spark your imagination and storytelling skills:

Write about a day where everything you draw comes to life.

| draw comes to life. |
|---------------------|
|                     |
|                     |
|                     |
|                     |
|                     |
|                     |
|                     |
|                     |
|                     |
|                     |
|                     |
|                     |
|                     |

Use the following prompt to spark your imagination and storytelling skills:

Write a story about a magical animal that becomes your best friend.

|          |  |  |
|----------|------|--|
|          |      |  |
|          |      |  |
|          |      |  |
|          |      |  |
|          |      |  |
|          |      |  |
|          |      |  |
|          |      |  |
|          |      |  |
|          |      |  |
|          |      |  |
|          |      |  |
|          |      |  |
|          |      |  |
|          |      |  |
|          |      |  |
|          |      |  |
|          |      |  |
|          |      |  |
|          |      |  |
|          |      |  |
|          |      |  |
|          |      |  |
|          |      |  |
|          |      |  |
|          |      |  |
|          |      |  |
|          |  |  |
|          |      |  |
|          |      |  |
|          |      |  |
|          |      |  |
|          |      |  |
|          |      |  |
|          |      |  |
|   |      |  |
|          |      |  |
|          |      |  |
|          |      |  |
|          |      |  |
|          |      |  |
|          |  |  |
| ·        |      |  |
|          |      |  |
|          |      |  |
|          |      |  |
|          |      |  |
|          |      |  |
|          |      |  |
|          |      |  |

Use the following prompt to spark your imagination and storytelling skills:

Imagine your perfect day.

| What would you do? |
|--------------------|
|                    |
|                    |
|                    |
|                    |
|                    |
|                    |
|                    |
|                    |
|                    |
|                    |
|                    |
|                    |
|                    |

Use the following prompt to spark your imagination and storytelling skills:

Your pet suddenly starts talking.

| What's the first thing they say? |
|----------------------------------|
|                                  |
|                                  |
|                                  |
|                                  |
|                                  |
|                                  |
|                                  |
|                                  |
|                                  |
|                                  |
|                                  |
|                                  |
|                              |

Use the following prompt to spark your imagination and storytelling skills:

You wake up one day with the ability to fly. Where do you go first?

Use the following prompt to spark your imagination and storytelling skills:

| You wake up one day, and all the adults are gone. What happens next? |
|--|
|  |
|  |
|  |
|  |
|  |
|  |
|  |
|  |
|  |
|  |
|  |
|  |

Use the following prompt to spark your imagination and storytelling skills:

| A mysterious map falls out of a library book. Where does it lead? |
|---|
|   |
|   |
|   |
|   |
|   |
|   |
|   |
|   |
|   |
|   |
|   |
|   |

Use the following prompt to spark your imagination and storytelling skills:

If you could invent one thing to make the world a better place, what would it be?

Use the following prompt to spark your imagination and storytelling skills:

| One morning, everyone in town wakes up and something important is missing. What is it? |
|--|
|  |
|  |
|  |
|  |
|  |
|  |
|  |
|  |
|  |
|  |
|  |
|  |
|  |

Use the following prompt to spark your imagination and storytelling skills:

You hear strange noises coming from your attic. What do you find?

Use the following prompt to spark your imagination and storytelling skills:

You find an old diary with a final entry that says, "Beware of the clock."

Use the following prompt to spark your imagination and storytelling skills:

While exploring the beach, you uncover a buried chest. What's inside?

| buried chest. What's inside? |
|------------------------------|
|                              |
|                              |
|                              |
|                              |
|                              |
|                              |
|                              |
|                              |
|                              |
|                              |
|                              |
|                              |
|                              |

Use the following prompt to spark your imagination and storytelling skills:

| You invent a robot that can do anything. What does it do, and what goes wrong? |
|--|
|  |
|  |
|  |
|  |
|  |
|  |
|  |
|  |
|  |
|  |
|  |
|  |

Use the following prompt to spark your imagination and storytelling skills:

Write about a day in the life of a kid living on planet Mars.

Use the following prompt to spark your imagination and storytelling skills:

Time travel is now possible.
Where and when do you go, and why?

| Where and when do you go, and why? |
|------------------------------------|
|                                    |
|                                    |
|                                    |
|                                    |
|                                    |
|                                    |
|                                    |
|                                    |
|                                    |
|                                    |
|                                    |
|                                    |
|                                    |

Use the following prompt to spark your imagination and storytelling skills:

Earth receives its first message from an alien planet. What does it say?

| alien planet. What does it say? |  |
|---------------------------------|--|
|                                 |  |
|                                 |  |
|                                 |  |
|                                 |  |
|                                 |  |
|                                 |  |
|                                 |  |
|                                 |  |
|                                 |  |
|                                 |  |
|                                 |  |
|                                 |  |
|                             |  |

Use the following prompt to spark your imagination and storytelling skills:

You discover a hidden door in your school.

| What's on the other side? |
|---------------------------|
|                           |
|                           |
|                           |
|                           |
|                           |
|                           |
|                           |
|                           |
|                           |
|                           |
|                           |
|                           |
|                           |

| TIMG | CONT |   |
|------|------|---|
|      |      | 0 |

| WRITING CONT. |
|---------------|
|               |
|               |
|               |
|               |
|               |
|               |
|               |
|               |
|               |
|               |
| Illustration  |
|               |
|               |
|               |
|               |