THE LITTLE DRAGON SPARKY

Once upon a time, there was a little dragon named Sparky. Sparky was different from all the other dragons in his village. He was smaller and had bright blue scales instead of the usual red or green. Despite being different, Sparky loved to play with his dragon friends and explore the nearby forest.

One day, while exploring the forest, Sparky stumbled upon a lost baby bird. The bird was scared and alone, so Sparky decided to take care of it. He brought the bird back to his village and asked his dragon friends for help in taking care of it.

The other dragons were hesitant at first because they had never seen a dragon take care of a bird before. But Sparky showed them how to feed and care for the baby bird, and soon they all fell in love with it.

As time passed, the baby bird grew stronger and eventually learned how to fly. It would often visit Sparky and his dragon friends in their village, bringing them gifts from its travels.
